

Note: This information is provided for reference purposes only. Although the information provided here was accurate and current when first created, it is now outdated.

Table of Contents

[NEED TO ADD PAGE NUMBERS]

Reviewer's Comments

Introduction

Lesson One: The Best Plans Have Clear Visions, Goals, and Action Items

Example: Chesapeake Bay

Example: Illinois River, Oklahoma

Example: Tampa Bay National Estuary Program

Lesson Two: Good Leaders are Committed and Empower Others

Example: Napa County Resource Conservation District, California

Example: Adams County Conservation District, Pennsylvania

Example: Massachusetts

Lesson Three: Having a Coordinator at the Watershed Level is Desirable

Example: Tensas River Watershed, Louisiana

Example: Stony Brook Watershed, Massachusetts

Lesson Four: Environmental, Economic, and Social Values are Compatible

Example: Nashua River Watershed, Massachusetts

Example: Blackstone River National Heritage Corridor

Lesson Five: Plans Only Succeed if Implemented

Example: Center for Watershed Protection, Maryland

Example: Cedar River Watershed, Washington

Example: McKenzie Watershed Council, Oregon

Lesson Six: Partnerships Equal Power

Example: Cheat River Watershed, West Virginia

Example: Fish Creek Watershed, Indiana and Ohio

Example: Know Your Watershed, Indiana

Lesson Seven: Good Tools Are Available

Example: Project NEMO, University of Connecticut

Example: National Save Our Streams, Maryland

Lesson Eight: Measure, Communicate, and Account for Progress

Example: Tennessee Valley Authority

Example: Brazos River Authority, Texas

Lesson Nine: Education and Involvement Drive Action

Example: Lake Pontchartrain Basin Foundation, Louisiana

Example: Anacostia Watershed Society, Maryland
Example: Students Taking Action in Detroit (GREEN)
Example: Tiburon Golf Course, Omaha, Nebraska

Lesson Ten: Build on Small Successes

Example: Morro Bay, California
Example: Lower Paint Creek Association, West Virginia
Example: Santa Ynez Watershed, California
Example: Upper Arkansas Watershed Council, Colorado

Appendix 1: Tips from Practitioners

Example: Know Your Watershed
Example: California Coastal Conservancy
Example: Swift River Principles
Example: Dennis Hall, Darby Creek Watershed

Appendix 2: Questions and Answers Guide to Lessons

Appendix 3: Watershed-Related Periodicals

Appendix 4: Indices

- Terms and Organizations
- Individuals
- Guides and Resources
- Internet Sites

Appendix 5: Advisor E-Mail List

Feedback Form

Inside Cover: Partner List and Credits